John Murray

“It is most significant that the work of Christ, which is so central in our Christian faith, is essentially a work of destruction that terminates upon the power and work of Satan. This is not a peripheral or incidental feature of redemption. It is an integral aspect of its accomplishment.”

—“The Fall of Man,” Collected Writings of John Murray, 2:68.

John Murray

“It is surely significant that the first promise of redemptive grace, the first beam of redemptive light that fell upon our fallen first parents, was in terms of the destruction of the tempter.”

—Redemption—Accomplished and Applied, 49.

John Murray

“It was that triumph alone that released believers from the bondage of fear and inspired the confidence and composure of faith. But this triumph had relevance for them because their consciousness was one conditioned by the awareness of the role and activity of Satan.”

—Redemption—Accomplished and Applied, 50.
